

Mobile CRM Solutions for Life Sciences

Complete SaaS Mobile CRM and Analytics Solution

StayinFront Life Sciences is a cost-effective, end-to-end CRM and analytics solution. Field teams have the clarity they need to manage territories more effectively, while managers are equipped with the data and tools to measure, respond and coach teams for improved productivity and overall results.

StayinFront EdgeRx® is the powerful engine and reporting tool that enables managers and administrators to automate, manage and monitor sales force activity. Role-based configuration lets companies deploy a single solution across a broad range of commercial teams and tailor the functionality to the exact needs of a specific role.

Do More.

Increase Field Productivity

StayinFront Life Sciences helps maximize field productivity with key life sciences capabilities that optimize sales processes, compliance and effectiveness across primary care, institutional and specialty sales, and managed markets teams.

Managers can analyze territory data, initiate and execute field coaching reports, approve time-off territory requests and access their reps' schedules - while in the field.
